Huh?
oh wtF

So yeah, this new system would really make our company and community safer, by a lot.

Though it's going to be a pretty significant overhaul to our processes, so we're going to have to push for it to go smoothly.

Any questions?

Speaking of smoothly-

Look guys, this is important stuff.

I'm going to need you to at least try to do your part for this transition, ok?

It's what you're paying us for! Just let me know when you need stuff.

Thank you. Great. I'll keep you posted.

So yeah guys, I'm gonna get back in touch with the construction people in a little while, so we can get that ball rolling.

Flick

Make sure you keep your eyes open for the email from inventory, ok?

I want to make sure we stay up to date on all the...changes...

Hey, I'm super glad you're taking initiative here. we really need a more secure system like this.

...and they're gone. sigh

Oh, thanks! It's way overdue. I should have gotten started on it earlier, but hopefully I can get something in place.

Yeah. It seems like it's been kind of hard for a system like this to be put in place. Your plans look great though.

Yeah. Well, these guys... you know.

Well, I'm glad you think so. I'm just trying to get through to some of these people at least.

They just do the bare minimum and think they're done, I guess.

Yeah, basically. Hopefully Dennis learns something from the dirt bike incident and stops having them over every weekend, maybe they'll start paying more attention.

Haha, yeah. They might come around.

I've heard they couldn't get past all the roadblocks the executives put in place, so you'll probably have to either get some more people with you or figure out how to get it done yourself.

It would definitely be helpful if you got some support, 'cuz I think last time someone tried to do this they didn't have many people pushing with them.

Anyway I think we're about to play Doughnut: Ripened Conflict if you want to come watch!

No problem. Just let me know if you need anything, alright? I'm here.

Yeah, I know it didn't go well. Thank you again for speaking up earlier, by the way.

I will, definitely. Thank you.

Oh, um, no thanks. Go ahead.
